DOCUMENTATION

In this assignment, we wrote all the back-end functions whose descriptions had been written in the comments of the code. The main functions were modifycellofsheet and findindex, which were very useful. The first one modified the value at the given index of the cell of the sheet, and findindex function gives the value of the cell given in the index. All other functions depended on these two of them.

I also modified Assignment3, i.e. I had made few changes in the header section, for reading the csv file and I also used pointer instead of sheet, as I later came to know that variables were not changing their values inside actions of Assignment3 yacc file.

Finally, I read both the files, i.e. csv file and command file, and the sheet is being printed at the end of each command.
